2b. Elections Procedures

1. Before the end of the tenure of the current Executive Board, there shall be elections held to elect the next board for a term of one year, beginning on May 1st. Elections will be announced by February 14th, and interested individuals will have to submit their candidacy by March 1st. Any individual declaring their candidacy for an Executive Board position must be a member of the staff and also satisfy any additional requirements enumerated in the Requirements Section of the Election Policy of the Bylaws for each specific position.
2. The candidates will be required to list the positions they are running for in order of preference. Each individual may run for up to two positions. The list of eligible candidates will have the opportunity to provide the Board with a photograph, a description of their involvement, and a description of their platform. They will also have the opportunity to give one speech at the Elections Meeting, which will be held no later than March 17th, and will be open to all members. No voting will occur during the Elections Meeting. As soon as the Elections Meeting is over, voting will be opened.
3. Voting will be open for one week, and will be offered in whichever mode is selected by the current board. Each voting member will be given the opportunity to vote once, and will be required to list their preferences for each position. Each ballot will have the option of “None of the above”.

4. At the end of the voting period, an Election Committee, as chosen by the current board, and containing no candidates for the future board, will count the votes. The elections will be decided in the following way:
5. The Elections Committee will interpret the vote data using the WHUS Immediate Runoff Voting Method, defined below.
 - a. First, the General Manager will be selected.
 - b. Then, the Operations Manager will be selected.
 - c. Finally, the Program Director, Training Director, and Promotions Director will all be selected from the voting data simultaneously.
6. The WHUS Immediate Runoff Voting Method is defined as follows:
 - a. Any candidate who has already won an election will be dropped from this race. All voters’ ballots will be altered for this race so that that candidate will no longer have status on their ballot. All selections picked below the dropped candidate will move up one position on the ballots. The people who had selected the dropped candidate(s) as their top pick will now count as a vote for the person they selected as their second choice. Their third choice will now be counted as their second, their fourth as their third, until all positions have been moved up in this manner.
 - b. If there is a majority victor (>50%), that person will be elected. If there is no majority, the candidate with the fewest votes will be dropped from this race in the manner described above. The votes will be recounted, to check if a majority exists. If so, this person is the victor; if not, the process will continue in the same way until a majority exists.
 - c. If, in a set of simultaneous elections, one person wins two elections, then they will be awarded the position that they selected as their top pick, the victor will be removed from the race they did not select, and that election will be rerun. If that person is a non-voting member, all other non-voting members will be removed from all other races.
 - d. If more than one non-voting member has won an election, the individual who had more first place votes (or second place votes, in the case of a tie for first place votes, etc.), before their ballots were altered in any way, will win, and the other non-voting member will be removed from that race, and the votes will be recounted for that race.
7. This process will be done to decide all races. The results will be announced to the staff one week after voting is closed. Intermediate or count information will not be released.
8. A record of the election will be created by the Elections Committee and will include a narrative of the election process, the results of the election, and a record of the contents of every ballot. This record will be considered confidential and will not be released to the staff or to the public. This record will be retained for a period of two years.
9. The results of the election will be announced by March 31st.
